

With open desk:

Once the desk is lifted up, you will pull on the latches on both the left and right at the same time to lower the desk:

To lock the desk in the down and closed position, you will lower the desk and then once it is resting against the bed, push with some force until it clicks:

The desk will click in on the left side and right side and then be secured into the 2 spots on each side:
(Unit shown with desk open to point out where it will lock once lowered down)

The locking connection:

Connect with the underside of the desk/table which will connect to the latches on the bottom of the compatto wall bed.

To lock the bed in place close this into this section:

Example to unlock and open the bed:

Example of lock mechanism on the top left and top right of the horizontal twin compatto with desk:

This will connect once the bed is in position.

The above metal should not be able to slide into place over this rod, so that the bed cannot tip if someone sleeps on the inside portion.
